Montreal, February 16th 2005

CloserLook Search Services announces the release of Gotcha! a powerful new Internet search tool which will help you find a new phone number for any individual or business in Canada. A US version will be available soon. Gotcha is not merely another phone number lookup using the white pages. Rather, it combines the deep web search capabilities of the CloserLook™ Search Engine with complex intelligence about the moving habits of people.

With as little input as a last name and a Province or the complete name and last known address record, Gotcha will perform as many as 6 levels of searches and return with current phone numbers from the best sources in North America. Click here to see a sample Gotcha! Report.

This state-of-the-art search application is expected to find wide use in the credit and collection industry where Gotcha! will eliminate hours of manual efforts with a few mouse clicks. The tool has a number of features designed to make the service both powerful and user friendly. It can even be used to find a long lost friend, a former neighbor or schoolmate.

"Gotcha! is the first of a series of new deep web search applications that will be released in 2005" says CloserLook founder and President, Sumithra Jagannath. "We have been gratified by the response generated in the credit and collection industry. Professionals have been quick to recognize the strength and the potential of this new tool."

CloserLook Search Services Inc, formerly GOA Technologies, is a leading provider of search services for key business information not accessible through traditional web search engines. Based in Montreal, the company specializes in invisible web search applications for b2b and consumer markets.
